Consolidated Commercial Controls Acquires International Commercial Supply Corporation Transaction Expands CCC's Geographic Reach to Create National Platform

MORTON GROVE, IL (October 31, 2007) —Consolidated Commercial Controls, Inc. (CCC), a distributor of replacement parts, accessories and supplies for foodservice equipment, today announced the acquisition of International Commercial Supply Corporation, L.L.C. (ICS). The transaction unites two of the foodservice industry's leading replacement parts suppliers, combining CCC's market strength in the Midwest with ICS' East and West Coast focus to create a company with national distribution.

ICS will continue to operate under the ICS name and retain virtually all of the same staff, providing sourcing and service continuity for customers. At the same time, ICS will gain access to CCC resources and those of Pfungsten Partners, L.L.C., the private equity firm that is CCC's majority shareholder, to enhance its operations with product line extensions and various continuous improvement initiatives designed to maximize business offerings, customer service and operational efficiencies.

Founded in 1980, ICS (www.icscparts.com) is headquartered in Winsted, CT, with a West Coast distribution center in Las Vegas, NV. ICS sells over 9,000 Original Equipment Replacement (OER) parts and supplies for cooking, warming and other foodservice equipment to service companies, equipment dealers and others in the business of repairing commercial kitchen equipment or reselling to end users. In-stock products are shipped by 5:30 pm on the same day the order is received.

The transaction represents CCC's first strategic acquisition since Pfungsten Partners became the majority shareholder in May 2006. The transaction is part of Pfungsten's strategy to grow CCC's business through new product lines, geographic expansion, and strategic acquisitions of complementary companies.

"The addition of ICS gives CCC a national footprint and advances our goal of building CCC into a one-stop replacement parts distributor to the foodservice equipment industry in North America," said Thomas S. Bagley, Senior Managing Director, Pfungsten Partners, LLC. "ICS's size, consistent growth rate, diverse customer base, and strong synergies with CCC made the company an ideal addition to the CCC platform."

"Joining forces with CCC and Pfungsten will allow us to take full advantage of market opportunities and provide new solutions to better serve our customers," said ICS co-owner Howard W. Brebeck. "The transition will be seamless for our customers and ensure that we continue to provide the high level of service that has been our trademark for 27 years."

The acquisition was completed on October 31, 2007.
